Staten Island Defeats Brooklyn Zingari

-Many Close Games. Most of the cricket games played yester-day were close, and several furnished exciting finishes. These being the last league con-tests preparatory to the international game at Staten Island this week, unusual interest was manifested in the battles in which any contending player was one of the selected eleven for All New York.

The principal game of the day was played at Prospect Park between the Brooklyn Zingaris and Staten Island Team B, and on account of both teams being tied place the contest was eagerly looked forward to. Though Staten Island won by 17 runs, the struggle up to a certain point was a very keen one, and not until the last man had gone to the bat was the winning hit made. Great credit is due to R. E. Bonner for his nervy hitting at a critical period, and A. G. Laurie also batted well, making top score. J. Wood and C. A. Worm were the stars for Brooklyn, the former scoring 17 and taking 5 wickets for 28, and the latter scoring 14 van, E. C. Locke, William G. Dunham and Frank Tucker put up a handsome silver cup, which was to go to the winner. The starters were George Matthews's Escape, E. R. Newell's Adelaide, J. P. Donovan's Thora, C. M. Fletcher's Fleetwing, W. G. Dunham's Cavalier and M. S. Kattenhorn's Surprise. These books vary in size, and to equalize things it was agreed that the Adelaide should have an allowance of 7 minutes, the Cavalier 10 ninutes, the Surprise 25 minutes, the other three sall on even terms.

The boats were sailed by amateurs, and the crews were: Thora, J. P. Do ovan, owner; E. C. Locke, Lawrence Dunham, James Ricketts and Frank Tucker; Escape, George Motthews, owner: James D. Sparkman and John H. Schofield; Fleetwing, W. D. Dunham, Harrison Vedder and Guy Carleton.

A stiff wind, east by north, was blowing when the boats were sent off at 11:10, and it was rough. There was a sting in the wind and it was an ideal day for a hardrace, but a was rough. There was a sting in the wind and it was an ideal day for a hardgace, but a poor one for the rocking chair feet. At the start a slight error was made in the signals, which puzzled the yachtamen somewhat and the Thora got away poorly as a result.

The first leg was a beat, and for thirteen miles it was tack, tack. The weather just suiged the Escape, and she worked away from the others and turned the first mark well in the lead. The times at that point were: Escape, 2:08:00; Adelaide, 2:18:00; Thora, 2:28:00.

Next was a run with spinnakers and the boats made fast time in the fresh wind, but it rained at this time and fairly daluged every one. At the Hempstead mark, the times were: Escape, 3:28:00; Adelaide, 3:48:00; Thora, 3:35:00. Then they had a broad reach to the finish. The Escape finished at 4:17:00; Adelaide, at 4:28:25, Thora, at 4:24:20, and fleetwing at 6:35:00. The Cavalier was not timed and the Surprise withdrew.

The Fleetwing fouled a small sloop off Stamford and anchored to render what aid she could and then continued.

In the afternoon there was a women's race and the Grace, sailed by Miss Dealey. The summary:

Mr. Keene was so well pleased with Nicol's Mr. Keene was so well pleased with Nicol's handling of Sysonby that he presented $1,000 to the boy after the race. Oddly enough, here was a persistent rumor at the track that Sysonby had either gone lame or had broken down completely. How and where the report originated nobody could tell, but it was on the ip of the tongue, and Trainer Rowe was kept usy making repeated denials. Some of the ookmakers heard the canard and were nclined to accept a raft of small bets against heavy wagers when they came their way.

In the paddock the critics looked Sysonby over with the greatest scrutiny, but only found him in perfect trim. Mrs. Grosvenor's Laughing Water and Indian Chief third.

In the tandem class Mrs. Gerken's Newsboy and Shopgiri took the biue, second place being given to Mr. Jordan. Mrs. Grosvenor's pair were third, and C. T. Proctor's fourth.

In the roadster class, M. E. Masclay's Auditor B. took the blue from W. J. Butsfield's Miss Banahan, William V. Hoffman's Silk Lace getting third place. Harry L. Toplitz's Judge Boardman took the white ribbon.

Mr. Jordan's fourth win during the day was in the harness horse pairs, women to drive, with Kitty Gray and Norina. The red went to Mrs. Grosvenor's Fascination and Elevation, and the yellow to Thompson Clydeville's Queen and Future Quees. The white ribbon went to Mrs. A. O. Van Housen's Saint and Sinner.

Mrs. Gros venor swept the deck in the next class for saddlers, taking the blue with Petroleum and the red with Corinne. Mrs. Grosvenor repeated the trick in the class for single horses for the championship, taking the blue with Petroleum, and the red with Corinne.

The road race between Sea Bright and Long horses for the championship, taking the blue with Petroleum, and the red with Corinne.

The road race between Sea Bright and Long Branch attracted attention. The distance, six miles, was covered in 2s minutes. Mr. Thompson's four was first to enter the ring, the Lewisohn entry second, and Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Viking and Vanity and Vogue and Venture last. Only forty seconds separated the three. The Vanderbilt four, however, were in the best condition which was one of the conditions of the race, and they received the blue. The Lewisohn team took second place.

Howard Willets's Heatherbloom won his third blue during the show in the hunter class. West Chester Farm's Onerious got the red and Dick Donnelly's Rifie the yellow, while the white went to Jack Frost, the property of Chester Farms.

Manning and Seelig won in the Victoria class with Prince Alert, James C. Brady's entry getting the red.

There were thirteen entries in the running race. In the final heat William Carr's Moonlight Maid won by a nose, Singleton VanSchalck's Stay Away was second, and George Chipchase's Virginia Francis third.

More Trouble and Tobasco First and Second Boots in Bace for Childs Prize.

The Bensonhurst Yacht Club yesterday afternoon on Gravesend Bay successfully defended W. H. Childs's costly perpetual challenge trophy against the picked boats of the Atlantic Yacht Club, the Brooklyn the New York Canoe Club. Its representatives, Rear Commodore John B. O'Donohue's N. Y. Y. C. 30 footer Tobasco and the class Q creation, More Trouble, owned by W. H. Childs, crossed the finish line respectively first and second in a fleet of eight On corrected time, however, More Trouble proved the winner by 5 minutes and 4 seconds. This is the second time this year that More Trouble has successfully defended the trophy. The competition, which was open to classed and under, allowed for two representatives from each club. They all, however, sailed none class on time allowance. The challengr was the Atlantic Yacht Club, and to capture the coveted trophy the big Sea Gate organization sent D. S. Wylle's class P yacht Lizzia and Cockatoo II., a class Q boat, owned by Hendon Chubb.

The Marine and Field Club also sent a class Q boat, the Quest, owned by F. J. Haves, together with a little RR craft, the Benowned by Snedeker and Camp. The Brottlyn Yacht Club and the New York Came Club were satisfied with one representative each. They were both class Q boats, the former being the Ogiguan, owned by R. GAINS DECISIVE VICTORY AT NEW YORK BAY REGATTA.

Good Field, Including Former Champton Titus, Finishes Behind the New Star —Four Hoboken Carsmen Lose Their Shirts in Barge Bace on the Harlem.

The New York Bay Regatta Association held its third annual regatta on the Speed-way course, Harlem River, yesterday, and a program of ten events brought a fair crowd of local carsmen together. Out of the nine contestants, the others being entered by the opening race a rainstorm came up and it left its effect in the shape of a nasty drizzle all the afternoon. The course, a mile and a quarter long, with the tide, was smooth and good for rowing. Two revenue cutters were present to keep the river clear of traffic, but they tied up at each end of the course and did not even toot a whistle to the tows that ruined the racing.

The main event of the day was the senior singles, in which Shepheard, Hoben, Vesely and Titus were the starters. A week age at the Long Island regatts they finished in the order named, and it was singular that the result was the same yesterday. But Shepheard's victory was more striking, and when the others digging and straining toward the line the Seawanhaka man simply played with them and as the flag fell sat up and grinned.

An idea of the power he had in reserve may be gathered from the fact that about an hour later he stroked the four barge crew of his club to victory. Hoben rowed well, and so did Vesely, but with Titus it was once again the embodiment of the adage youth will be served. The Nonparell man was simply outclassed.

In the senior four barge, the last event of the day, a most interesting contest develope etween the Seawanhaka and the Active B. C. of Hoboken. Although opposed crack crew the Hoboken men staked their shirts on the event. After the crews finished the crews pulled alongside, and the Hobokens passed their Jerseys across to the Seawan-

There was a mixup after the crews had rowed about 200 yards. They stopped rowing and were restarted, after which the Nonparells took the lead. The Harlems steered all over the river and fell behind at every stroke, and the Nonparells won by five lengths. No

The start was an even one, but after a quarter of a mile Thompson showed the way closely followed by the two others. In this order they rowed for half the journey, when Peck took command. Rowing with a good swinging stroke he drew away from his opponents and won by three lengths. Thomp-son was second, two lengths in front of Breen. JUNIOR FOUR GIG.

The Nassaus caught the water at the crack of the gun, and pulling a good swinging stroke, took a nice lead, with Clifton. Crescent and Dauntless about even. This order was maintained until the half mile, when the Nassaus went further away and the Crescents spurted into second place. Dauntless had the inshore course and the dead water but were making great effort to keep on even terms with Crescent. Nassau won easily by two lengths, Crescent securing second by a quarter of a length from Dauntless. Nassau's time, 6 minutes 12% seconds. Crescent's time, 6 minutes 18 seconds.

The start was a good one, but Southard and McEntee were slow in getting into motion. Of the other four Titus was first to get his oags in motion and the prow of his boat shot ahead for a brief spell. Then Shepheard put on steam and went by the Nonpareli sculler as if he were standing still. Hoben, too, put some weight on his sculls and kept his eye on his Seawanhaka rival. Vesely was about bow and bow with Titus. Thus they went until the half mile mark, when Hoben tried again for the lead, but Shepheard dug a few stiff ones and still showed the way. At the quarter Shepheard, sculling along in smooth style, drew away, and he won easily by two lengths from Hoben. Vesely beat Titus by two lengths for third nlace and he was a length behind Hoben. WASHINGTON, D. C., December 27, 1904.

TROY CHEMICAL COMPANY. Binghamton. New York:

I used "Save-the-Horse" spavin cure first on a thoroughbred, which had bowed both tendors and which had been fired once and blistered a number of times, but every time he was trained one or the other of the legs would full. This happened three years in succession. Last spring I bought a bottle of "Save-the-Horse," and used it according to directions with the result that he started seven times, at all distance, in July last, and won three times, second three times and third once—an excellent record—and he appears to be perfectly sound to-day. I am firmly convinced without your remedy he would not have been worn a dollar as a race Borse.

I have a roadster which stepped in a hole at pasture and wrenched a hind ankie—so hadly that he could not put his feet on the ground. I was advised to shoot him, as it was claimed that he had injured his hip, not put his feet on the ground.
